

Fullwood celebrates 225 years with a new Merlin

In 2010 Fullwood celebrates 225 years in business. To mark this anniversary the company is pleased to introduce the New Merlin 225, their latest high capacity milking robot.

Merlin 225 has a new streamlined look which has the added benefit of being more hygienic and easier to service. The new model also enhances feeding and cow comfort. Further improvements to milking technique and general hardware of the machine have been incorporated to improve performance and capacity. This will further endorse Fullwood's position as a world leader in automatic milking machines.

Merlin 225 milks cows automatically, feeds the cows, manages milk quality, monitors animal health, detects cows in oestrus and automatically separates animals requiring attention. All these functions are managed by Crystal, Fullwood's complete herd management software.

Combined with Packo cooling technology, Merlin 225 offers farmers the complete high performance system for automatic milking.

The new Merlin 225 will be available through the Fullwood worldwide distribution network.
